BLM welcomes new spokesperson to Western Colorado

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — The Bureau of Land Management welcomed Public Affairs Specialist Erin Curtis to the Western Slope this week.

Erin is based in Grand Junction and will support the BLM Grand Junction, Gunnison and Uncompahgre field offices. She will also assist with wildfire information in Western Colorado and support the Southwestern Colorado Resource Advisory Council.

“Erin has a solid understanding of media relations and public affairs,” said Catherine Robertson, Field Manager for the BLM Grand Junction Field Office. “Her experience and energy will be great assets for the BLM.”

Curtis has worked in public affairs and public relations for more than 10 years, including experience with water management agencies and community colleges. Most recently she was Vice President of a communications firm in Ft. Collins, Colo. She also has experience as both a newspaper and broadcast journalist. She holds a Bachelor’s degree in government/journalism from California State University at Sacramento and a Master’s degree in public administration from California State University at Long Beach.

Curtis can be reached at erin\_curtis@blm.gov or 970 244-3097.
